Ms. Benedetto, Mr. Seeger and Mr. Weiss-

It is a pleasure to make your acquaintance over email.

While I do have a relationship with some of the people at CSG, we have not received any referrals from them. Furthermore, at this time, my firm does not represent any class members (or prospective class members) of the NFL Players' Concussion Injury Litigation.

As such, it is not clear to me that the subject matter of your inquiry pertains to my firm. Having said that, and in response to your letter, if we do retain a client for the NFL Player's Concussion Injury Litigation, we will be sure to share with them the "key facts about settlement benefits, procedures and personnel" as outlined in your letter.

Please let me know if you require anything else.

Best,
-Stephen

Ms. Benedetto,

We were advised by CSG that there were issues as detailed in your letter dated 6/2/17.

Due to this it was decided that our firm was not going to represent any players until said issues were resolved. As such, we have not been retained by a single class member.

We were contacted and screened by CSG as CSG was looking for reputable counsel to recommend to their clients.

I am not in privy to the details of the arrangement between the class members and CSG and what may or may not have said, nor am I in privy to their contracts. I do know that CSG was to take a percentage or fee for assisting the class members. I do not know what the percentage was, but have no reason to doubt the contents of the letter.

We were simply contacted to be on a list of firms the class members could select from, at their discretion.

Please let me know if further clarification is needed.
